Comparison of Deutsche Bank Securities Inc. (DBSI) cash sweep options

	Money market mutual funds	Insured Deposit Program
Overview	Free cash balances from your brokerage account are used to purchase shares in one or more money market mutual funds that invest in highly liquid short-term securities.	Free cash balances from your brokerage account are deposited into an interest-bearing account at one or more FDIC-insured program banks. Each program bank has a maximum FDIC insurance limit of $250,000 and the overall program maximum FDIC insurance limit of $2.5 million.
Minimum investment/ deposit	Varies according to fund.	None
Minimum investor/ depositor qualifications	None	None
FDIC insurance/SIPC protection	Money market mutual funds are not FDIC-insured. SIPC will provide protection in the case of an insolvency of Pershing (DBSI's clearing broker-dealer), which will have custody of your fund shares. SIPC does not protect against ordinary market loss in the value of a money market fund.	FDIC-insured up to $250,000 per program bank (potentially reduced by any other client deposits held at program bank thru DBSI or other provider of financial services). Overall program maximum FDIC insurance of $2.5 million. No SIPC protection.
How rate is determined	Money market mutual fund managers have a fiduciary duty to seek the highest yield available for their shareholders (less fees and expenses) consistent with prudence and their investment objectives. Your yield will be based on your share of the total return of the securities the fund has invested in.	The interest rate paid to you is determined by a formula related to the aggregate amount of total deposits by all participants in the program and a rate of interest based on the average federal funds effective rate, plus a spread negotiated with Total Bank Solutions (TBS) from time to time. The rate may fluctuate from time to time due to market conditions. In addition, the interest rate will be tiered based on the market value of assets and cash in all brokerage accounts held with DBSI under the same tax identification number.
Certain risks	Although money market mutual funds seek to preserve a net asset value (NAV) of $1 per share, an investment in fund shares may incur losses if the fund's assets decrease in value. There is no guarantee against loss and the investment is not insured or guaranteed by FDIC.	Cash swept to each program bank is insured by the FDIC up to $250,000 per program bank. If you hold any other deposits separately at a program bank outside the cash sweep program, your total deposits at such bank, including those in the program or otherwise, are only insured up to $250,000. The program will sweep your cash into a varying number of program banks. Assuming that you have no other deposits at the program banks, the maximum amount of FDIC coverage will be $2.5 million. It is your responsibility to monitor your balances at other financial institutions. Any cash swept in excess of this amount will not be FDIC-insured and will be subject to the risk of loss in the event of the insolvency of any program bank.

Fees	Money market mutual funds will charge a fee based on the percentage of cash invested. This fee will reduce the returns you receive from those funds.	You will not be assessed a fee in connection with your participation in the FDIC-insured bank sweep program. Please note that each program bank expects to earn a higher return from lending or investing your funds than it pays you in interest and incurs in expenses of administering the program.
Conflict of interest	Each participating money market mutual fund pays certain processing and revenue sharing fees to Pershing and DBSI based on the total amount of cash swept into the fund. Please note that certain of the money market mutual funds offered to DBSI customers are managed by DWS, an affiliate of DBSI. DBSI Relationship Managers receive no compensation with regard to money market mutual funds.	TBS provides compensation to DBSI and Pershing for services provided in connection with the IDP. DBSI Relationship Managers receive no compensation with regard to the FDIC-insured bank deposit program.
Other information	Investors in money market mutual funds should carefully consider information contained in the applicable prospectus, including investment objectives, risks and fees. You may request a prospectus by contacting your DBSI Relationship Manager. Please read the prospectus carefully before investing. Please refer to the Cash Sweep Option Disclosure document for additional information, which is available from your DBSI Relationship Manager.	Please review the Cash Sweep Options Disclosure document, which is available from your DBSI Relationship. The FDIC-insured sweep program was created and is overseen pursuant to an arrangement between DBTCA and Pershing and is made available by Pershing to certain DBSI clients whose DBSI accounts are held in custody with Pershing.
